A continuation of Latin 1.1, above. Why Latin Via Ovid? I felt Latin Via Ovid has several advantages for an Internet Latin course for high school students. First, it is organized in each chapter to allow the student to study one idea at a time and then apply what he or she has learned to translate the story in the chapter. Second, it focuses on Ovid, one of the great writers of the western world. The stories we will translate all come from his Metamorphoses and are interesting and varied. Third, the text has lots of extra material to increase your practice with Latin. We will use it all and add to it so that you learn about the Romans as you learn their language. Last, you will find Ovid everywhere on the Internet, and we will take advantage of that. Successful completion is based on quizzes, translations, exercises, and etymology assignments for each chapter of the text, brief written reports, mid-semester exam, and final exam. Liz Griffin
